

Harry Cranston for International Officer

Why me?

I was an international student myself in South Africa, so I know just how difficult it is to find yourself in a new university and a new country and just not know how anything works!

I know the UK can seem like a strange place, and Cambridge can seem even stranger. Having been in that position before I'd like to help international students navigate everything from setting up bank accounts and getting orientated at Downing through to making new friends and getting the most out of your time here.

Policies

Proposer: Liron Shmilovits
Seconder: Conor Simpson

- Ensure smoother inductions during and after Fresher's Week so that international students can easily adjust and feel at home at Downing in no time.
- Encourage international students to take advantage of the social aspect of College life by persuading them to join and take part in social and sporting activities from the very start of their programmes.
- Develop better relationships with the university-wide international societies
- Expand the range of international events at Downing
