

Hi all! My name is Michael Albergo – I'm a current MPhil student in the physics department, born and raised in the US. I grew up outside New Haven, CT, and then moved to Boston for college and have since shipped myself out here to continue being indecisive about what I'd like to do with my life.

It has come to my attention that there is a shortage of candidates for the welfare officer position, so I figure I'd throw my name into the mix to try and fill that void! For some background on me, I've spent my time in a variety of different environments and communities – from working full-time on a drag musical to doing research on Middle Eastern history to spending (the majority of) my time in the physics lab. This also means I am happy to be an outlet for our classmates needs – in the variety of forms they may arise – as I can try (and am excited to) understand the spectrum of dilemmas we might face.

I'm also interested in helping sponsor student coalitions that may be formative for mental health outreach, especially groups that already exist to support communities, such as the Downing FemSoc club and Student Minds Cambridge.

This is last minute, so apologies on that!
